HELPING NEIGHBORS IN NEED

EFAA CELEBRATES 100 YEARS IN 2018!

In 1918 a group of local citizens from civic and faith organizations came together to help their neighbors in need and formed what we know today as EFAA. This ray of hope came at a critical time for Boulder County, which was reeling from a bust in the mining industry and burdened by the crisis of a Spanish Flu epidemic. One hundred years later, EFAA continues its tradition of neighbors helping neighbors and is here as our community's safety-net for families in need.

100 YEARS A NEIGHBOR, AND 100 MORE...

FOR 100 YEARS, the Boulder County community has created, sustained and depended upon EFAA. In many cases, those who have been helped go on to become donors, and sometimes donors find themselves in a place of need and are grateful for EFAA's services.

"Thirty-two years ago I was a recipient of EFAA's help...I was I was out of money, out of gas, out of food and my water had been turned off. My 5-year-old daughter was asking for a drink of water so I asked a friend 'Where should I go?' She suggested EFAA... they gave me a bag of groceries, got my water turned back on, and gave me $25 for gas, knowing that I was a real estate agent... That was it for me. It made all the difference in my life. I was out of options and EFAA was a place for me to go." – KAREN BERNARDI, LOCAL REAL ESTATE AGENT
